

The nation's social workers face daunting workforce challenges such as low compensation, high caseloads, insurmountable education debt, and safety concerns that compromise the ability of these dedicated professionals to provide their clients with unparalleled service and care. The Dorothy I. Height and Whitney M. Young, Jr. Social Work Reinvestment Act (S. 2858) will analyze these workforce shortage challenges and will determine the best course of action to address them. Please show your support for the profession of social work by signing on as a cosponsor as well as actively working to ensure the passage of this legislation.

Contact Mona Shah in Senator Barbara Mikulski's office at (202) 224-4654 to become a cosponsor.
